Presentation Outline

- Structures (standards and competencies), their intent and function
- Relationships
- Suggestions to help CHNs apply

Context CONFUSION?????

"Which ones should we be following CCHN/regulatory standards??

competencies??"

Definitions of Terms

Standard: scope of practice or expectations (CHNAC, 2003).

Competency: knowledge, skills and abilities described in behavioural terms (PHAC, 2008).

Competencies/Standards

Standards are the "how"

Competencies are the "what"

Standards provide a structure for developing competencies

Types of Competencies

Public Health Core Competency

Discipline Specific Competency

Competencies related to certification exams

Program competencies

Technical competencies

COMMUNITY HEALTH NURSES ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

National/Provincial/Territorial Standards for Nursing Practice and Specialty Standards (Frameworks)

Client Standards

Program Standards

Organizational Standards

Specialty Standards

(e.g. CHN Standards)

Regulatory Standards

(e.g., College and Association of Registered Nurses of Alberta)

Adapted from: College of Registered Nurses of Nova Scotia (2003), Standards for nursing practice (effective Jan. 1, 2004) (3)

Why are Standards/competencies Important?

- Promotes, guides and directs
- Aids with understanding & respect
- Informs continuing education, performance management
- Promotes pride and confidence

Regulatory Framework

CNO NANB

RNANTNU

Purpose Self Regulation

ARNPEI

YRNA

ARNNL CRNNS

CRNBC CARNA

Regulatory Colleges

- Safety and Responsibility to the public
- Standards for qualification
- Standards of Practice
- Administer QA programs
- Complaint and investigation

Provincial/Territorial Regulatory Standards

- Apply to all nurses in the province
- Defined and regulated by regulatory body
- Legal requirement to practice
- Begin when you become a registered nurse

Specialty Standards

(CCHN standards of practice)

- Specific to the practice of CHNs
- Voluntary
- Defined period of practice experience
- 'Value added'

(CHNAC, 2007)

CCHN Standards

- Knowledge, Skills, Judgment and Attitudes
- Scope and depth of practice
- Establish criteria or expectations for acceptable practice and safe, ethical care
- Support ongoing development
- Promote CHN as a specialty
- Foundation for certification by CNA
- Inspire excellence in and commitment to CHN practice

CCHN Standards

The Five Standards

 - a) Health promotion
 - b) Prevention and health protection
 - c) Health maintenance, restoration and palliation
- 2. Building individual and community capacity
- 3. Building relationships
- 4. Facilitating access and equity
- 5. Demonstrating professional responsibility and accountability

Competencies for Public Health in Canada

- Knowledge, skills and attitudes
- All disciplines
- Improve the practice of PH
- Support collaboration and partnership development
- Improve recognition and understanding

Discipline specific competencies

(e.g. PHN competencies)

- Delphi survey method
- Informed by
 - > CCPH
 - CCHN Standards
 - > Public Health Nursing Practice in Canada: A Review of the Literature (CHNAC, 2008)

Differences

Regulatory Standards

Apply to all nurses
Defined by regulatory body
Legal requirement
Begin when hired
Acquiring and maintaining responsibility of the nurse

Specialty Standards

Apply to just CHNs
Defined by CHNs
Voluntary focus
Sometimes have minimum expectations
Require a defined period of practice experience
Acquiring and maintaining a joint responsibility of staff and employers

Relationship

Historical development

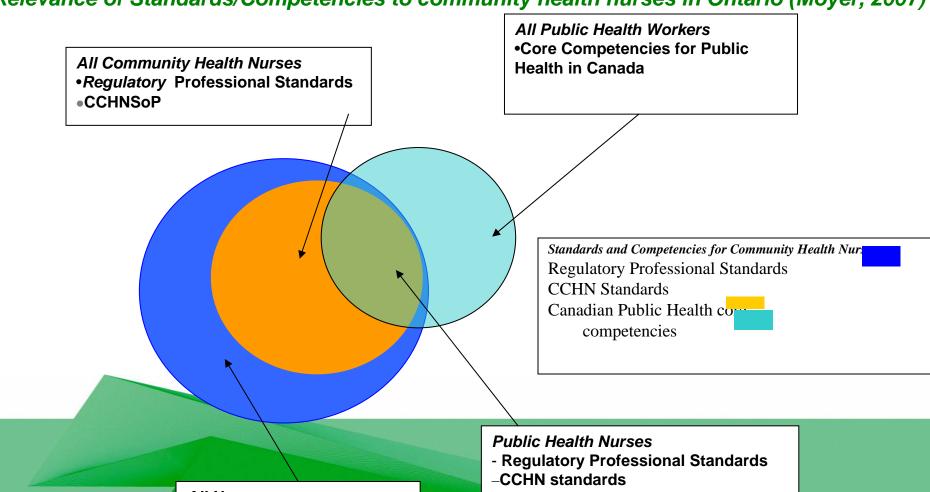

- Build on each other
- Together, enable speciality certification

Overall Analysis: Similarities

- More effective workforce
- Service delivery that is evidence informed, population-focused, ethical, equitable, standardized and client-centred
- More unified workforce
- •Explains the nature of public health and public health goals PHAC, 2007

Tools and Tactics: Implications for Practice

Tools; the standards themselves

Tactics

- 1. Recognize overlapping scopes
- 2. Understand relationships
- 3. Expand knowledge within specialty areas
- 4. Accountability as nurses to continually be improving our knowledge
